

Algeria Terror Grows

Roving Bands On Rampage Go Unchecked

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Roving bands of young Europeans attacked Algerians and set fire to Algerian shops Wednesday in the fourth day of a rampage that harassed police apparently are unable to quell.

Fears of a blood bath grew as terror in Algeria's second city mounted. Ten persons—9 of them Algerians—were killed and 40 injured.

A strike by European merchants—apparently to protest previous attacks by Moslems—accompanied the new outbreaks throughout this sprawling port city of 400,000.

Street fighting, in the past usually confined to one section, flared almost everywhere. Police and troops, supported by armored vehicles, tried unsuccessfully to isolate the trouble centers while spotter helicopters flew overhead.

One European gang stopped a bus, hauled out the Moslem passengers, stabbed one to death and beat up several others.

In another section, a shot was fired from a building under construction. Word spread that it was fired by an Algerian. Angry Europeans grabbed a passing Moslem and lynched him on the spot.

Sedalia Youth Arrested In Carlyle, Illinois

The three juveniles reported missing here have been arrested in Illinois in a car reported stolen from Bob Austin.

The Sedalia Police Department was notified Wednesday night by the Carlyle, Ill., police that they were holding the boys. The FBI, the parents of the boys and Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn were notified.

The FBI has initial jurisdiction in the case, because a stolen car was driven across a state line, but Thursday morning it was not determined whether or not the FBI would exercise its authority. If the FBI does not take the case, according to Police Chief Ralph Hamlin, they may be returned to Sedalia to face charges of taking the car, in Pettis County Juvenile Court.

Reports of the missing boys were received by local police Wednesday, about the same time Austin reported his car missing. Police, taking into consideration that at least one of the boys has been reported missing before, theorized they took the car.

One of the boys has connections in Connecticut, and it was believed they might be headed that way. An all-points item was aired and peace officers along the route to Connecticut were alerted.

As the boys started to drive through Carlyle Wednesday night officers were waiting.

Winnie 87 Today

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill was 87 today and—a bit reluctantly—planned to attend an informal family dinner tonight.

"He's feeling very fine, but he's a little grumpy about the anniversary," a spokesman said. "You know how he is about them."

Reds Defy Registration Security Act

Party Leaders Say Officers Won't Register

NEW YORK (AP)—The Communist party of the United States has repeated the declaration that its officers will not register under the Internal Security Act.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for registering, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy repeats that the Department of Justice "will enforce the law."

Kennedy, commenting on the party's new statement that its officers would ignore the deadline, said in Washington: "All that the Communist party and its officers are being required to do is register in accordance with a law passed by the Congress and affirmed by the Supreme Court after a full and fair judicial procedure."

"The Communist party has not been outlawed. It has not been asked to curtail its activities, in any way."

The law was passed in 1950, and the registration provisions were upheld by the Supreme Court last June after 10 years of litigation instituted by the party.

The party's new statement, issued here Wednesday, said the act is the "most repressive single statute in the history of our country."

The law provides fines up to $10,000 a day for the party for each day of defiance. It provides the same fines, plus prison terms, for officers and individual members who defy the law.

Nuclear Vessel Won't Use Fuel Load for While

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nuclear ship Savannah had a full load of atomic fuel aboard Wednesday, but months will elapse before the enriched uranium is used to propel the vessel.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced completion of loading 17,000 pounds of enriched uranium oxide fuel into the Savannah's reactor. The work, had started Monday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. docks at Camden, N.J. Another month of testing lies ahead before a chain reaction is started in the ship's reactor, and still another month or so will be devoted to low-power tests at Camden limited to 10 per cent of capacity.

Paves Way For Man In Space

Whirlwind Trip By Chimpanzee Sets the Stage

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Heartened by the world-circling space flight of a chimpanzee, the United States picked a man to take the next step up the long, dark stairway to the moon.

But it was Enos, a serious 37½ pound chimp, who paved the way with his whirlwind trip, twice around the world Wednesday.

Just 3 hours and 21 minutes after he had ridden an Atlas rocket into the sky, Enos was plucked from the sea by a Navy destroyer 255 miles south of Bermuda.

Less than two hours later, space officials named U.S. Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. to ride a similar spacecraft three times around the world. Understudying Glenn for that first American manned orbital shot is Astronaut Scott Carpenter.

Officials also named a team for the second manned shot: Astronaut Donald B. Slayton, with Astronaut Walter Schirra backing him up.

There is no assurance, however, that the United States will be able to put a man into orbit around the globe this year.

Officials denied any urgency for the flight, suggesting it was not yet decided whether man or animal would ride the next Project Mercury rocket into earth orbit.

But only a day earlier, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had allotted a contract for the design and construction of a three-man space capsule that could go to the moon.

Propose Plan To Jump Rut On Education

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The commission on goals for higher education in the South proposed today a billion-dollar plan aimed at getting the region's colleges and universities out of an educational rut.

"Within our reach," a report by the seven-man commission, calls for boosting enrollment to 1.7 million students and pumping $2.9 billion a year into higher education in the South by 1970. Higher education now costs $1.1 billion a year for 883,000 Southern students.

"Economically, this region can be one of the most productive areas on earth," the report said. "Culturally, its writers, painters and musicians can bring new glory to American literature, art and music. Intellectually, its colleges and universities can increasingly become preeminent centers of learning and leadership."

The commission proposed "a partnership of Southern higher education, business, industry and government to promote the growth of professional and technical manpower, to provide the research necessary for full development of resources and speed the economic progress of the region."

If the South fails to cultivate its intellectual resources, the report said, "it must abandon hope of directing its own economic destiny."

Old Movie House At Rich Hill Burns In $75,000 Blaze

RICH HILL, Mo. (AP)—The Booth theater, reported to be the oldest movie theater in the country continuously owned by one family, was destroyed today in a $75,000 fire.

Also destroyed was a small restaurant in the theater building. A mortuary, next to the building, was damaged by heat and smoke. Cause of the fire was not determined, but W. W. Gordon, chief of the volunteer fire department, said it could have been faulty wiring.

The theater, owned by Shirley Booth, had been in the Booth family since 1906.

US, British Delegates To Quit Talks

'Nothing Gained' By Presence At Deadlocked Meet

GENEVA (AP)—The top American and British delegates at the nuclear test ban talks have decided to return home Friday but will leave their deputies to continue the deadlocked conference.

Arthur H. Dean of the United States and British Minister of State Joseph Godber came to today's third session of the resumed talks with their minds made up that nothing could be gained by their continued presence.

Officially, Dean is returning to Washington for consultations with the government on the Soviet rejection of any kind of international control machinery.

Godber is returning to New York to resume his post as head of the British delegation at the U.N. Assembly.

The Western side believes the Soviet Union has eliminated any prospect for a disarmament agreement at this time by rejecting the location on its territory of any international machinery to control nuclear weapons testing.

Neither American nor British officials would say that the Western delegates' departure resulted from a conviction that the three-year-old negotiations are now doomed to failure in their present form.

The deputies, Charles C. Stelle of the United States and Sir Michael Wright of Britain, are to continue meeting Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin for the time being. But as Tsarapkin refuses to discuss controls, and the West refuses to discuss a test ban without controls, the prospects of compromise appear nil.

The talks resumed Tuesday after a nine-week recess caused by the Soviet breach of the East-West nuclear testing truce.

Offer Rewards For Arrest Of Driver's Killer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rewards amounting to $2,000 were offered Wednesday for the arrest and the conviction of a gunman who shot and critically wounded a St. Louis bus driver in a holdup Tuesday.

William E. O'Haren, 51, of suburban Glasgow Village, was shot in the head by the bandit in a robbery that netted only about $35. O'Haren was reported still in critical condition Wednesday.

The two $1,000 rewards were offered by the St. Louis Public Service Co., and Local 788 of the Bus and Streetcar Operators Union.

Zorin Walks out on Johnson During Soviet Warning Talk

'Embarrassing' Charge Lodged By Ambassador

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet ambassador to the United Nations walked out of a humanitarian award dinner Wednesday night after Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson warned the Soviet Union against any attack on Europe.

The ambassador, Valerian A. Zorin, left the dais just after Johnson said "any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise."

Zorin's walkout was joined by Luka Kizya, the Ukrainian representative, and Yordan Tchobanov, Bulgaria's ambassador to the U.N., and their wives. The ambassadors of Poland and Yugoslavia did not join Zorin in leaving.

Zorin refused to talk to newsmen in the Hotel Astor ballroom, where 800 guests were assembled to honor Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

Later, at Soviet U.N. mission headquarters, Zorin accused Johnson of "embarrassing" him and making "political" remarks, adding: "At a dinner of a humanitarian function such a statement was out of place."

After the dinner Johnson, asked for comment, replied: "It's a speech, a speech."

Continued Zorin: "From what I heard and saw, Mr. Johnson began accusing the U.S.S.R. in some expansionist aspirations and actions which I, as the representative of the Soviet Union, cannot listen to from any quarter, including Vice President Johnson."

Johnson, who read his speech, had called attention to the buildup of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and said: "Its forces have steadily expanded in numbers and efficiency. Any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise. The principal base of Western power outside the U.S. is vastly more secure."

Zorin said that he had no opportunity to reply at once to Johnson. "If it were a political discussion or a meeting," Zorin said, "I would do so."

"I am sorry to have interrupted such a fine dinner," Zorin added. "There was nothing else I could do under the circumstances."

Johnson did not appear to have noticed that Zorin left the table.

Bond Sale Over The Top With $11,500 Donated

The Crippled Children's Center Bond Sale was declared a huge success today by J. D. Walker, director. Walker said all packets had been mailed in and that the total donations received was $11,500.

"Coupled with the regular contributions we are receiving," Walker stated, "it's apparent that the Center's many services will continue."

The bond sale idea originated when the center faced a funds deficit of $11,000 for this fiscal year, which ends April 1. Failure to reach the needed amount would have resulted in curtailment of some services being offered free of charge to Pettis County children suffering with a variety of crippling ailments.

When Richard M. Nixon, then vice president, and his wife visited Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, in 1953 they were met by howling mobs. The Nixons narrowly escaped injury.

The story was different in Bogotá, the Colombian capital, where the Nixons received a rousing welcome. Police broke up two small protest demonstrations there.

Glenn to be First

Two Astronauts Tapped for Ride

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Donald K. Slayton, selected to make the first two U.S. round-the-world orbit flights, consider their experience as combat and test pilots will be invaluable in space.

"Experience in dangerous and unexpected situations is even more valuable than good conditioning," says Glenn. "If you have successfully controlled your airplane in an emergency, or dealt with an enemy pilot whose prime object is to destroy you, your chances of making the proper decision next time are increased."

"The space traveler, alone where no one has been before, will need a confidence only experience can give him."

"Man hasn't built a machine yet that didn't turn balky and troublesome at some point," remarked Slayton. "In test flying these troubles can arise on an instant's notice. One moment you are putting the ship through a routine maneuver, the next thing you know you have snapped into a dangerous spin. You must be prepared for any emergency."

"This ability to react quickly in unexpected crises certainly played an important part in our selection as Mercury astronauts."

Glenn was named Wednesday to make the first trip. This could come in a few weeks, depending on evaluation of data from Wednesday's two-orbit mission of Enos the space chimp. Astronaut Malcolm Carpenter will be back-up pilot.

Slayton will make the second globe-girdling flight, probably two or three months after Glenn. His backup is Walter Schirra.

At 40, Glenn is considered the "old man" of the astronauts. A Marine lieutenant colonel, he was (Please turn to page 8 column 3)

Vows of Miss Anne Mae Welliver And Mr. Donald Dick Solemnized

Mrs. Donald Eugene Dick

At ten o'clock Saturday morning, Nov. 11, Miss Anne Mae Welliver and Mr. Donald Eugene Dick exchanged wedding vows at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. Francis C. Landick, CPPS, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welliver, Route 1. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dick, of Route 3.

Mrs. Earl Paxton played traditional wedding selections on the organ and accompanied Mr. Al Domingue, who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Ave Maria," and the girls' choir, which sang the Nuptial Mass.

Mr. Jerry and Mr. Ronnie Rouchka, cousins of the groom, served as altar boys.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of misty white Chantilly lace over tissue taffeta, styled with a basque bodice and a scalloped scoop neckline sprinkled with sequins. The long lace sleeves tapered to traditional points over the hands. The bouffant skirt was highlighted with scalloped star points dipping deep into a tulle flounce. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion fell from a lace crown lavished with pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white Fuji and white Frenched mums with a tie and shower of white satin.

The maid of honor, Miss Marguerite Ellen Welliver, Kansas City, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann Dick, Sedalia, wore ballerina length dresses of romance blue lace, styled with scoop necklines and short sleeves. The circular skirts featured satin bows and streamers at the side waistlines. Their headpieces of matching blue were continental crowns edged with pearls and circular face veils. The maid of honor carried a colonial arrangement of white Frenched mums centered with a large blue mum with a white satin shower. The bridesmaid carried a colonial arrangement of blue Frenched mums centered with a large white mum with a white satin shower. The ushers were Mr. Don Welliver, brother of the bride; Mr. Frank Dick and Mr. A. J. Heck, cousins of the groom; and Mr. Don Wissman, Mr. Robert J. Klein, Lexington, Ky., was best man. The groomsmen were Mr. Jerry Brant, Sedalia.

The flower girl, Miss Cynthia Marie Welliver, niece of the bride, Boonville, wore a white full-skirted dress with a peter pan collar and a button-on bib narrowing to a point at the waist. Her white headpiece was acorn-shaped crown edged with pearls and a circular face veil. She wore a wristlet of blue Frenched mums and carried a pearlized basket trimmed in blue with white rose petals.

The mother of the bride wore a brown-and-black flecked faille suit dress with three quarter sleeves, black and white accessories, and a corsage of white Frenched mums. The mother of the groom wore a light blue wool jersey dress with a flared skirt, a scooped neckline, and three quarter sleeves; black and white accessories; and a corsage of white Frenched mums.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held in the Sacred Heart cafeteria. The two serving tables, for the cake and the punch bowl, were garlanded with leather leaf fern and blue mums. The names of the bride and groom and the date were inscribed upon the silver cake knife which was adorned with blue mums and a white satin shower. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses and crowned with white wedding bells tied with a white satin bow, atop which were two white doves carrying wedding bands. The servers were Miss Welliver and Mrs. Mary Jo McMullin, sisters of the bride and Miss Betty Jo Dick and Miss Jean Dick, sisters of the groom.

Mrs. Virginia McAllister, Kansas City, kept the guest book;

Ladies Night Program For Local Lions

The Sedalia Lions Club held a ladies night meeting at LeRoy's, Wednesday night, at which Miss Frances Ward, director of nurses at the Bothwell Hospital was the speaker. Miss Ward took as her subject "the control of poison."

The speaker was introduced by Tom Baker, program chairman for the meeting.

She told of various types of poison and control measures. She also stressed the importance of calling the family physician should one accidentally take poison, or a child come in contact with poison and accidentally drink it.

Miss Ward called attention to the new poison control center at the Bothwell Hospital, and impressed on the listeners if they should ever become a victim of poison and the family doctor cannot be located, to go directly to the center and treatment will be given and a doctor summoned immediately.

The meeting was presided over by Kenneth Leslie, president. District Governor W. W. "Woody" Austin, Warrensburg, was present and initiated two new members into the club, Herb Woodsmall and Eddie Wise. Following the indoctrination, their sponsors pinned the Lions pin to the lapel of their coats. E. B. Smith to Mr. Wise and Don King to Mr. Woodsmall.

Also a guest at the meeting were Mrs. Austin and State Secretary Gib White, of Jefferson City.

Young Love Spoofed By Stage Play

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—A roguish, hilarious spoof of young love is "Sunday in New York," at Broadway's Cort Theater.

Light as a bubble and bright as a rainbow, the farce had the customers howling with glee on debut Wednesday night.

Pat Stanley, a pert recruit from musical comedy dancing, is saucy and demure as the Red Riding Hood from Albany, N. Y., out to learn about life in the big town.

Norman Krasna's plot casts Miss Stanley as a lass jilted by suitors because of her old-fashioned moral scruples. In big brother's apartment she is determined, though still reluctant, to terminate her innocence with the assistance of her latest catch.

In this role, Robert Redford, a rugged lad with a nice comic flair, turns out to be a sheep in wolf's clothing. But before that happens, "Sunday in New York" has rolled through a lot of laughable situations that are innocently risque.

Conrad Janis enacts Miss Stanley's brother with a bright nicety and Ron Nicholas shows up as an ardent fiancé. Pat Harrington Sr., and Sondra Lee cavort with dexterity through an assortment of brief roles.

Garson Kanin has kept the whole enterprise moving about the stage with dispatch and rhythmic dash. The David Hays setting is primarily a living room section that converts into a number of unlikely locales with amusing originality.

A twinkling cutie, this "Sunday in New York."

Untold Move Costs Firm Its Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The company which has processed Alaska fur seal skins for the government for 40 years will lose the contract because it didn't tell the government of its plans to leave St. Louis.

D. Otis Beasley, administrative assistant secretary of the Interior Department, notified the Fouke Fur Co. Wednesday the government will terminate the contract Dec. 31, 1962.

Beasley said about 50 per cent of Fouke's business results from the contract but that Fouke announced plans to move to Greenville, S.C., without consulting the government.

"In view of the extent to which the Fouke Fur Co. is engaged in doing business with the government, its decision to relocate without consulting or discussing plans with the Department of the Interior, and because of the adverse impact such relocation will have on the economy of the city of St. Louis as well as the company's employees and their families, the department had no alternative but to conclude that the company does not possess the business characteristics so essential to a negotiated contract with the government," Beasley said.

3 Specials For Viewers In One Night

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—If you stayed with NBC Wednesday evening, you visited a Manhattan "twist" joint, joined a Billy Graham crusade, heard Paul Anka sing A. E. Housman poetry and Doug Fairbanks Jr. read the preamble of the U. S. Constitution.

That's the kind of a night it was on NBC, with three hour-long specials one after the other. It was a long evening for constant viewer.

Taking up the program in reverse chronology, "The World of Billy Graham" showed a lot of film of the evangelist and his efficient team in action, but never fulfilled the promise of digging below the surface.

The "intimate glimpses" had a self-conscious staged air about them—and never once did we get a glimpse of the man behind the mellow voice and the flashing eye.

Perry Como's Roncom Production Co. obviously has the idea of selling an updated, TV version of "We the People" as a separate program and used Perry's variety hour to showcase a sample. It was an odd hodge podge of short features—including the aforementioned twist and Anka bits, a live parachute drop and—you won't believe it—a visit to the Museum of Modern Art in New York to hear a clarinet player improvise his reactions to the paintings.

Finally, there was a history of Hollywood from its beginnings to the arrival of sound—"The Golden Years." The old film clips would have been more amusing if there had not been a lot of the same thing on TV recently, notably ABC's very good "Silents Please."

NBC, ABC and CBS are all showing three programs, each of special viewing interest, at the same time tonight. They are NBC's "Victoria Regina," ABC's "Yves Montand on Broadway," and a "CBS Reports" about a bookie raid. (And if I had to make a choice—which I don't because I saw a preview of the NBC show—it would be "Victoria Regina.")

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: You may know a lot about people but you don't know much about dogs.

In a recent column you said a 14-year-old collie is equivalent to a 98-year-old human. You no doubt arrived at that figure by multiplying the dog's age by seven. This is an old-fashioned method and nobody who knows anything about dogs uses it any more.

The new system is as follows: Figure 25 years for the first two years, add seven years for the third year and then add two years for each remaining year.

So you see Ann, that collie named

Blitzer Is Traveling In Fast Company

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When—and perhaps, if—"Mutiny on the Bounty" is released, American audiences may be surprised by the billing.

The stars of the film will be listed as Marlon Brando, Trevor Howard and Richard Harris.

You might well ask, who is Richard Harris and what is he doing in such fast company?

To English audiences and his shipmates on the bounty, the questions are unnecessary. They know him as a brilliant actor, one of the brightest of Britain's new crop.

When I called on him at the "Bounty" set, he appeared neither bright nor brilliant. His orange hair was straggly and shoulder-length. He had a three-day stubble on his face. He wore ill-fitting denim and well-worn sweat socks.

He felt as bad as he looked. The reasons: 1. His wife had returned to England over the weekend. 2. Rumors were rife that some of his best scenes would be cut in the post-production surgery of the movie.

"A whole year of my life I have given to this blankety-blank picture," he complained. "and for what? I might as well be an extra."

Harris was assured by a fellow member of the company that his was the most sympathetic role in the mutiny, that he still has some magnificent scenes in the film, that he would probably draw the best notices of the cast.

Harris brightened somewhat. You may have guessed that Harris is Irish. He has a face which he describes uncharitably as looking like "six miles of back road." Actually, it is strong, broad and faintly handsome.

Like many an Irishman, he went off to London to seek his fortune. It was slow coming. But after an apprenticeship in repertory, he clicked with a year's run on the London stage in "The Ginger Man."

LaMonte PTA Meets

The LaMonte PTA met Nov. 20 in the school gym. Verne Crotch presided over the short business session.

An interesting devotional, with Thanksgiving as the theme, was given by Mrs. C. W. Heffelfinger. A group of seventh grade students sang two musical numbers, they were accompanied by Kay Richey. The program was on safety. The freshmen and sophomore English I and II classes, along with their instructor, Mr. Koken-sperger presented a very interesting and entertaining program. The sophomores put on a short skit, emphasizing careless driving and its consequences. The freshmen chose a more serious approach to the problem of safety by having a class discussion with Mr. Koken-sperger as the moderator. All grades had posters about safety on display. The seventh grade parents were in charge of refreshments.

The December PTA meeting will be the Christmas program.

CAP to Observe 20th Anniversary

The Civil Air Patrol, a national organization of air-minded civilians, marks its 20th anniversary Friday. Taking part will be the Sedalia unit, although the local squadron is still young and operating in its eighth year.

Formed in Washington on Dec. 1, 1941, the CAP was set up to help the Office of Civil Defense on the home front during World War II.

The Sedalia unit did not organize until May, 1954, when it was set up under the leadership of Bill Padgett, the first squadron commander, and Tom Wilson, the first executive officer.

Padgett has since been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel and is commander of Missouri Group Five, which includes CAP squadrons in Jefferson City, Shelbyville, Moberly, Brookfield, Whiteman Air Force Base and Sedalia. Wilson attained the rank of captain before his death and the local CAP's building at the Municipal Airport is named in his memory.

Current membership of the Sedalia unit is about 20, officials reported. A slightly larger number of teen-age cadets are now in training under Mrs. Jack Kehl, cadet training officer. The unit meets each Tuesday night at 8 p.m.

The cadet training program offers teen-age boys and girls an opportunity to play an integral part in the CAP and at the same time gain more knowledge of aviation. For boys the program pays off when they enter military service.

Senior CAP members are afforded a chance to learn more about aviation and take part in a valuable nation-wide program. Licensed pilots have training aircraft at their disposal.

Lt. Col. Padgett said earlier that the Sedalia unit, while not as large as metropolitan units, has been steady and strong in its growth and operation. The increasing number of privately owned planes hikes the importance of CAP progressively, it was pointed out.

National History
The CAP served so close to the military on its air patrols following its national organization that supervision soon was transferred to the War Department for the duration of World War II.

In 1946, far sighted aviation leaders recognized the need for such a civilian organization of adults and youngsters for peace-time emergencies. Civil Air Patrol was federally chartered as a nonprofit, benevolent corporation — its members all unpaid, dues-contributing volunteers.

Its value in search and rescue, its potency as a launching pad for youth in an air age led to CAP's legal establishment in 1948 as an auxiliary of the Air Force, though not as an agency of the federal government. Members, while on duty, wear the basic USAF uniform with special CAP insignia, which they purchase.

Today's CAP membership is approximately one-half adult, one-half teen age (cadets). Twenty per cent are women and girls. Minimum age for membership is 14.

Members are rewarded with special national activities, such as the foreign cadet exchange and drill competition and introductions to jet aircraft, space missiles and air traffic management.

With this unique stature for a civilian organization goes legal priority for Department of Defense surpluses, primarily aircraft, vehicles and communications equipment.

The CAP corporation is governed by a national board of senior members. The CAP organization itself is organized similar to a military establishment from the echelons of its eight geographic regions, through its 52 wings in each state, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico, to groups, squadrons and flights in more than 1,900 communities.

The national commander and administrator of CAP is an Air Force general officer in charge of a national liaison headquarters and AF-CAP liaison offices in each CAP region and wing. The Air Force maintains these offices with professional staffs and provides a small fleet of C-47 transports and utility planes for CAP-USAF.

Search and rescue, the original, basic mission of CAP, is accepted as a matter of course. The long-range mission of Civil Air Patrol is aerospace education for all, providing aerospace leadership for the future.

JFK Directs A Blast At GOP's Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican right, as represented by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has become a prime political target for the Kennedy administration.

Goldwater drew fire Wednesday from President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Kennedy struck back in his news conference at Goldwater's opposition to giving the President broad powers to negotiate tariff matters, particularly with respect to the European Common Market.

Without specifically naming Goldwater, Johnson told a Philadelphia audience that those who are demanding total victory in the cold war should say frankly whether "they mean we should declare war against the Soviet Union." Goldwater has called on Kennedy to make a cold war victory the chief objective of U.S. foreign policy.

While these same-day assaults on Goldwater's views by the two top elected Democratic officials may have coincided only by accident, they seem to indicate the administration is worried by what the Arizona senator contends is a rising tide of conservatism.

If this tide is running, it may threaten several key administration proposals in the next session of Congress. These include broad tariff authority, school aid and medical care for the aged.

Neither Kennedy nor Johnson has made any public attempt to link Goldwater with the political "extremists" both have denounced. But they have implied that some of his views are similar to those held by the occupants of the far right fringe.

Two Astronauts

(Continued from Page 1.) the alternate pilot on the sub-orbital space trips of Alan B. Shepard Jr., and Virgil I. Grissom. Glenn flew 59 fighter-bomber missions in the Pacific in World War II and 100 missions in Korea, gunning down three Communist MIGs in the last nine days of fighting. His awards include five Distinguished Flying Crosses and an Air Medal with 18 clusters.

He and his wife, Anna, both from New Concord, Ohio, now live in Arlington, Va., with their children, David 15, and Carolyn 14. Mrs. Glenn said in Arlington that she is "quite happy and proud" of her husband's selection. She said she and the children have great confidence in Project Mercury and are "looking forward" to the orbit shot.

Marjorie Slayton is equally excited about the prospect of her husband becoming one of the pioneers of space flight. But she said Glenn's flight is the No. 1 consideration now.

"We are all behind John's shot," she commented at her home in Newport News, Va. "When we get that off, we'll concentrate on Don's shot."

Slayton, 36, an Air Force major, is a native of Sparta, Wis. During World War II he flew 56 medium bomber combat missions in Europe and seven over Japan.

After the war he earned a degree in aeronautical engineering at the University of Minnesota. He was recalled to active duty in 1951 and later became a crack Air Force test pilot. He has 3,400 hours of flight time, 2,000 in jets.

The Slaytons have been married 6½ years. They met in Germany when Slayton was stationed there and Marjorie was a U.S. civilian employee. They have a 4-year-old son, Kent.

The charge resulted from an incident Tuesday night.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said he received reports of a pickup truck running cars off the road on Highway 50 west of Sedalia. As the local Highway Patrolmen were busy on other assignments, Fairfax investigated and found the truck in the ditch just west of Gasoline Alley.

Keithley was at the wheel, Fairfax said, and he booked him for careless and imprudent driving, and placed him in the Pettis County jail. While in jail Keithley orally admitted, according to Fairfax, he had taken the truck from George Igo without the owner's permission.

Thursday Fairfax asked Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz to withdraw the C & I while drinking charge and file the tampering charge.

Visit to Santa Ends Boy's Life On Happy Note

LONDON (AP) — Seven-year-old Tony Bigmore saw Santa Claus for the first time Wednesday and died happy.

Tony, only child of a mailman, was born with a hole in his heart. Because of his frail condition he had never been able before to go to the stores and meet the jolly old man with the red suit and the beard.

Five months ago he underwent an operation which it was hoped would correct the heart ailment.

Wednesday Tony went to a toy store with his parents, confided to Santa Claus that he wanted a toy train and laughed happily while one was demonstrated.

Suddenly he clutched his left chest and collapsed.

A doctor in the crowd pronounced the child dead.

Report Shows Crime Still On Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime continued to increase in both urban and rural areas during the first nine months of this year.

This is the gist of the FBI's uniform crime reports for the period, announced today by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. City crime jumped 4 per cent over the same period in 1960, while the rural increase was 9 per cent.

In making his report, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that the 4 per cent city rise is especially significant in light of substantial increases and new peaks in all crime categories in 1960.

A sharp rise in suburban areas helped account for the increased city crime. The over-all percentage rise in cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population group, many of which comprise the country's suburban areas, was 10 per cent.

An "alarming" 23 per cent increase in forcible rape was reported by cities with populations from 250,000 to 500,000. The 30 cities in this group reported 935 rapes, compared with 761 during the same period last year.

At the same time, forcible rapes for all cities reported declined 1 per cent, while increases were chalked up in all other crime categories. Included were a 4 per cent increase in murders, larcenies of $50 and over and auto thefts, a 2 per cent rise in robberies and aggravated assaults and a 5 per cent increase in burglaries.

The statistics were supplied to the FBI by police agencies throughout the country.

Christmas Seals Are Neat On Mail; Aid TB Battle

It is again time for the Christmas seals, the colorful little stickers that are put on letters and packages, that play an important role in helping to check tuberculosis.

William A. Schien is the chairman this year of the Pettis County Christmas Seal Campaign and asks that contributions for the seals be mailed to the treasurer, Mrs. Shirley Wagner, 101 1/2 West Third.

Seventy-nine per cent of the Christmas Seal campaign funds remain in Pettis County where the local association works to inform the individual and the community about tuberculosis and to help find solutions to the problems that confront patients, their families, and the whole community in the fight against TB.

Many years of experience have shown that Christmas Seal funds can be used most effectively in stimulating governmental and other agencies to provide facilities for case finding, diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation of people who have tuberculosis. Money raised by Christmas Seal contributions would be inadequate to provide these facilities or to pay for long-term care for the many patients with TB.

The association takes the lead in testing and encouraging new case - finding and rehabilitation techniques. It cooperates with official and voluntary groups such as the health department, schools and social welfare agencies to maintain the community's health.

The other 21 per cent of the funds go to the state association which functions on a larger scale, and does many of the same things the local organization does in its own community.

The state association conducts training programs for the professional workers of the various local associations. It also provides leadership training for the executives and board members of the locals.

The Missouri division of health reports that 99 new cases of tuberculosis were reported in the state during October. In October, 1960, there were 140 new cases reported. This year's cumulative total is 1,180 as compared to 1,194 new cases reported by this time last year.

An estimated two million people now have or have had active tuberculosis, and in 1960 there were over 10,000 deaths from TB in this country. Despite modern scientific progress, TB still takes a life somewhere in the United States every 30 minutes, but more than nine million lives have been saved from TB since the first Christmas Seal was issued, which was in Denmark in 1904. They were first distributed in the United States in 1907. No issue has ever been reprinted and each year the printing plates are destroyed.

The Double-Barred Cross, trademark of the National Tuberculosis Association is an adaptation of the Cross of Lorraine, carried in the Crusades.

The seal, used generously, helps the fight against TB, as do dollars paid for them.

Favorable Bonus Rule Vote Seen

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Despite strong opposition by the Los Angeles and San Francisco National League clubs, the minors were expected to vote favorably today for an amended bonus rule designed to short-circuit what minors boss George Trautman has described as "the road to financial suicide."

At least 14 of the 22 existing minor leagues, appalled by the wild spending which cost baseball a reported total of $12 million in 1961 in bonus payments to untold youngsters, have indicated they would vote "yes" for a proposal recommended by a committee of major league officials.

The new rule would result in the following:

1. A major league club would be allowed to farm out only one first-year man.

2. All others must either be kept on the 25-player roster or be subjected to irrevocable waivers for a set price of $8,000.

3. A first-year player not claimed by waivers would be subject to draft the following winter for $8,000.

4. The farmed-out player, although performing in minors, would be counted on the parent club's 25-player roster.

Opponents of the rule claim that while such a rule would curb the practice of excessive bonus payments, it also would stifle enterprise on the part of the more aggressive clubs, negate the need of large scouting staffs, and, most important, drive young athletes from baseball to other competitive fields.

An amendment to ease this rigid rule has been proposed by Fresno Thompson, farm director of the Dodgers.

Thompson's proposal would increase the waiver price from $8,000 to $12,000 for a first-year player and permit a club to farm out two players instead of one. It would also increase the price from $8,000 to $25,000 for a first-year player selected by a major league club in the draft.

"The rule, as now proposed," said Thompson, "would kill off all incentive. The way I see it, my duty to my employer is not to save him money but to get him the best players. Under this rule, why go out and get the best players only to lose them to a club which makes no attempt to sign such players?"

Thompson estimated that his amendment, if adopted, would cut in half bonus spending.

"I would estimate that perhaps 50 bonus players would be signed next year," he said, "with only about 10 getting as much as $75,000 or $100,000. There would be perhaps 20 bonuses ranging from $25,000 to $50,000. The average bonus would be around $20,000 which would make the total bonus outlay about a million dollars."

While the minors were winding up their legislative sessions here, the major leagues already were gathering in Miami for their meetings beginning Friday.

Cage Scandal Figure Faces Prison Term

NEW YORK (AP)—Aaron Wagman, called the master fixer in the college basketball scandals, faced prison sentences up to 37 years and fines up to $37,000 today after pleading guilty to 38 counts of bribery and conspiracy.

He was the second of the nine accused bribers to plead guilty. Joseph Green, 37, also of New York, entered a similar plea Monday and will be sentenced Jan. 3. Green faces up to 20 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. General Sessions Court Judge Joseph Sarafite set Wagman's sentencing for Jan. 10.

Heavy Title Bout Quarrel Breaks Out

TORONTO (AP)—A rhubarb over fight officials broke out anew today as talk of the heavyweight championship bout between Floyd Patterson and challenger Tom McNeely edged slightly into the big fuss hereabouts over the Grey Cup football classic Saturday.

Most of the fans in this sports-mad town had been arguing over nothing but Wednesday night's Montreal-Toronto hockey game and the break up encounter between Winnipeg and Hamilton for the Canadian pro football title. The Grey Cup game stirs this town like a combination of Louisville on Derby week and Philadelphia on the eve of the Army-Navy game.

Canada's first world heavyweight championship fight almost had been overlooked until Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato, and Merv McKenzie, Ontario athletic commissioner, Wednesday wrangled over an alleged agreement to use non-Canadian judges.

D'Amato shouted that McKenzie had okayed a contract approved last Oct. 16 calling for the employment of outside judges. McKenzie firmly replied he had done no such thing.

D'Amato said the fight would go on even if Canadian judges were employed. But he said today he planned to appeal to a higher authority. The manager said since McKenzie, the sole commissioner, is under the Canadian minister of labor, he would go and see him.

McKenzie already has hired a non-Canadian referee — former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N.J. It was difficult for those close to the scene to imagine why there would be so much concern over judges. Even Patterson and McNeely agreed that only a referee able to count to ten will be necessary.

Patterson is a 10-1 favorite to win and the odds on a knockout probably would be prohibitive.

Surprisingly both D'Amato and Pete Fuller, McNeely's manager, quietly agreed to abide by the Ontario rules calling for the use of six-ounce gloves and the mandatory eight-count for knockdowns.

D'Amato favors the eight-count but doesn't care for the lighter gloves which help a puncher.

Fuller liked the six-ounce gloves but wasn't happy over the mandatory eight-count.

Former Kansas Football Coach Collapses, Dies

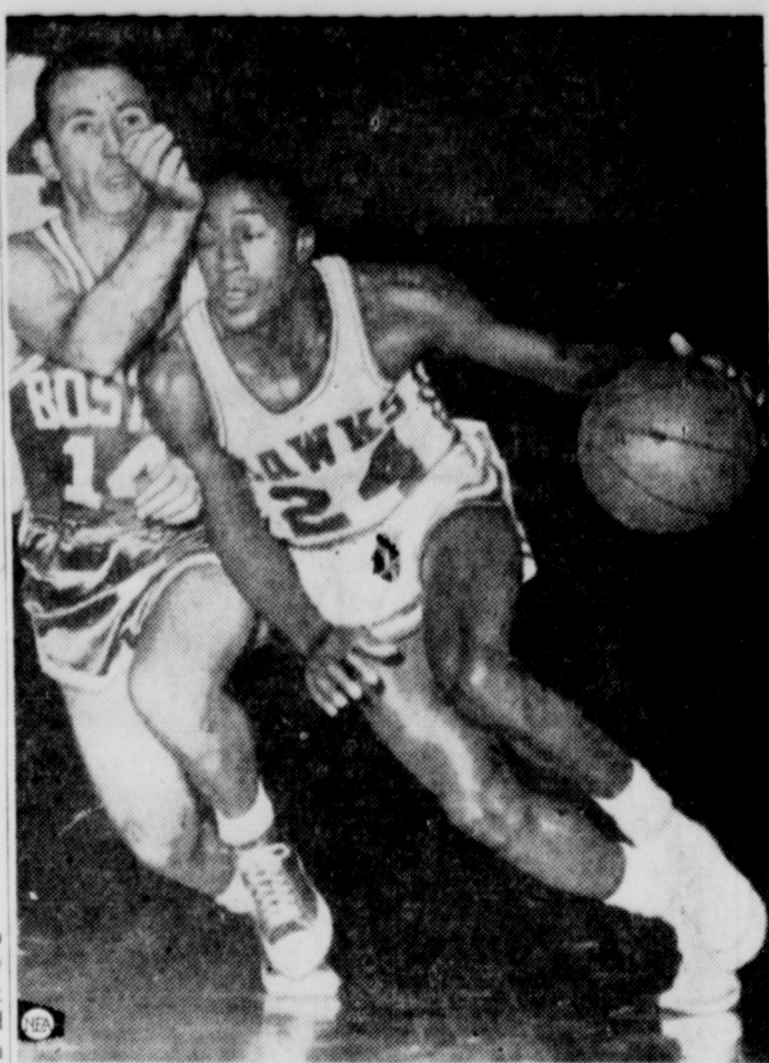

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—F.C. (Cappy) Cappon, former football coach at the University of Kansas, is dead.

Cappon, head basketball coach at Princeton University, collapsed and died Wednesday in the Princeton gymnasium after basketball practice.

A doctor said the 61-year-old coach apparently died of a heart attack. He suffered a heart attack early this year and was hospitalized six weeks.

Cappon coached football at Kansas in 1926 and 1927. His teams won five games, lost 10 and tied 1. Born in Holland, Mich., he was graduated in 1924 from the University of Michigan where he played football and basketball.

He started coaching at Luther College in Iowa in 1924. In 1925, he returned to Michigan as an assistant football coach, then went to Kansas in 1926.

See Healthy Packer Team For Sunday

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers may be healthy after all when they meet the New York Giants Sunday in a clash of National Football League title contenders.

The Packer roster earlier in the week looked like a sickbay list. Today it shows a mostly healthy football squad—thanks to the rapid recovery of several key players.

As a result, the Packers, leaders in the Western Conference, will go into their final game in Wisconsin as three-point favorites over the Giants, pacesetters of the Eastern Division. The game is expected to draw a record, standing-room-only crowd of more than 46,000 to Milwaukee County Stadium.

Three Packer players, who were out of action in practice sessions earlier this week, returned for work Wednesday and reported they would be ready to go. In addition word was received that the team's leading scorer and ace kicker, halfback Paul Hornung, would be given a pass from his Army duty at Ft. Riley, Kans., and be in action.

And the Packers were given assurance by veteran center Jim Ringo that he also would rejoin the team today.

When Coach Vince Lombardi called the role at practice Monday, he found fullback Jim Taylor and end Max McGee ailing with flu, defensive back Hank Gremminger still nursing injured ribs and Ringo in a hospital with boils on his face and neck.

Taylor, McGee and Gremminger reported to action Wednesday and are expected to be in shape to play.

The Packers need only one more victory to insure their second straight Western Division title. They have a 2½ game lead with three games to play. The Giants have a one-game lead in the Eastern Division. Both have 9-2 records.

As a result, the game is considered a preview of the playoff for the National Football League title.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

NOTRE Dame Alumni can now rest and quit worrying about grabbing Danny Devine away from the University of Missouri. The rumor machine can be covered up for the time being as those rumors produced have now been put to rest. Devine isn't going anywhere, except for a short trip to Arizona to be a member of the coaching staff on the West Team in the Cooper Bowl.

Coach Devine appearing before the annual football banquet given by the 33rd Degree Fans of Missouri at Columbia, Tuesday night, put Missourians at ease over the rumors. In fact his words could be put to music and could have sounded no better than the Number One Hit Tune.

They came when Devine told the overflowing banquet room of the Tiger Hotel, how much Mrs. Devine and their children enjoyed Columbia, how many friends they have made since moving to Missouri, and they never enjoyed living anywhere more than in Columbia. He then remarked, "I never expected to be a coach for any other coaching position than right here."

Continuing he said, "The University of Missouri has never broken its word to me, and I'll never break my word to the University. I don't want to ever leave," and closed by saying "and we'll get the job done."

Although those remarks were given Skipper Patrick of the Associated Press who carried them in his writings Monday, there were some Tiger fans at the dinner who still wondered if "maybe Dan might just up and accept a job at Notre Dame." His statement at the speakers table put their minds at rest.

Coach Milt Bruhn, of Wisconsin, was the main speaker at the banquet. Coach Bruhn paid high tribute to Coach Devine in his talk, and pointed out the devotion of his players to him — "and there's a reason, he is entitled to every bit of it."

Bruhn, was a roommate of Devine's on their trip to Europe last year when they went overseas on a clinic. He told of their association on that trip and of the things they did. During his talk he told of how they visited the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. "We spent over an hour in the cathedral which I enjoyed very much. We walked outside, and Devine asked if he could return, and

I waited outside looking around while Dan went back for a half hour devotion. That is the type of man Missouri has coaching its football team, and you are very fortunate to have Dan Devine."

There was little doubt that the entire audience was in sole agreement with Coach Bruhn, who also congratulated the entire Tiger football team on their season.

"One thing in common I now have with Dan," Coach Bruhn said, "we both beat Minnesota yet, then I agreed, and next Wisconsin knocked Minnesota out of the Big Ten championship 23-21. I am happy to be here and talk on a 'level' with Devine to you great supporters."

During the program Capt. Pat Henley of the 1961 team announced the election of the Tri-Captains of the 1962 team, fullback Andy Russell of Ladue; guard Tom Hertz of Preston, Ia., and tackle Jerry Walach of Fenton, Mo. They were elected by the team at a meeting, Tuesday, at which 31 letters were awarded. All three Tri-Captains are seniors.

Each year the 33rd Degree Fans name a lineman of the year and a back of the year, but it was announced this year it had to be two each because they had all tied. Linemen of the year to receive awards were Bill Wegener, Higginsville, a tackle and Edward Blaine, Farmington, also a tackle. Backs for the year were Ronald T.aylor, Chillicothe, quarterback, and Norman "Norm" Beal, Normandy, half-back.

At the speakers table were Gov. John Dalton; President of the University Elmer Ellis; Mayor Robert C. Smith, of Columbia; President of the Board of Curators James Finch; Don Faurot, director of Athletics of the University, Coach Devine and Coach Bruhn.

Montreal, Toronto Renew Hockey Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal and Toronto, which fought to a draw in round one of their war for first place in the National Hockey League, resume the battle tonight.

They engineered a 2-2 tie Wednesday night that left them knotted for the No. 1 spot, each with 28 points, two up on the idle New York Rangers.

Bob Pulford slammed home a goal midway through the last period that brought Toronto the tie and left the Leafs unbeaten on home ice this season with 8 victories and two ties.

Chicago got a three-goal performance from Bobby Hull, blasted Boston 7-4 and solidified its hold on fourth place in the only other league action. The Black Hawks increased their fourth-place lead over idle Detroit to three points.

Ferguson Is Named Back Of the Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bob Ferguson, who churns like a bulldozer on the gridiron, says he's "happy and very grateful" to be chosen Associated Press Back of the Week.

The All-America fullback from Ohio State was selected Wednesday for his deeds last Saturday against Michigan.

The 5-foot-11, 215-pound Ferguson closed out a brilliant career with a four-touchdown production and 152 yards in 30 carries as the second-ranked Buckeyes walloped Michigan, 50-20.

Only Wednesday, the Troy, Ohio, senior notched still another honor when he was runner-up in balloting for the Heisman Trophy. Syracuse's Ernie Davis edged the Buckeye battering ram as player of the year.

"It's quite an honor to be picked since so many other fine backs were in the running," Ferguson said.

Ferguson was the main cog in Ohio State's ground attack that carried the Bucks to eight straight victories after a season-opening tie with TCU.

Bob lugged the football 202 times for 938 yards and a 4.6 average. He scored 11 touchdowns in 9 games and paced the Big Ten in both scoring and rushing.

No Team In Birmingham Next Year

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham, a charter member of the Southern Association when it was formed in 1901, will be without professional baseball next year for the first time in 61 years.

Baron owner Albert Belcher withdrew the team from the Double A League Wednesday.

Belcher gave the city's segregation ordinances as the reason. "I never regretted anything so much in my life," he said Wednesday night after returning from the minor league meeting at Tampa, Fla. "But I felt there was nothing else I could do."

"Due to circumstances beyond my control," Belcher told league directors, "the Barons will be unable to play in Birmingham this year, and for as long as the segregation ordinance is on the books."

A federal judge last August knocked down the ordinance requiring segregation in various sporting events—including baseball—but the city is appealing.

Asked about Rickwood Field, the Barons' home park, Belcher replied: "I'm just going to let it sit there for the time being. It will just lie there vacant. There's not any money owed on it."

Belcher and members of his family own about 80 per cent of the stock in the club.

Belcher will retain the baseball franchise here on an inactive basis.

Psychiatrists
Deplore Loss
Of Dr. Duval

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two groups of psychiatrists jointly adopted Wednesday night a resolution deploring the loss of Dr. Addison M. Duval as director of the Missouri Division of Mental Health and Diseases.

Dr. Duval resigned Nov. 14, attributing his action to political pressure brought by Gov. John M. Dalton.

The resolution was adopted by the psychiatry and neurology section of the Jackson County Medical Society and the western Missouri district branch of the American Psychiatric Association.

It said:

"We express great concern over the recent action of the governor and the Mental Health Commission resulting in the resignation of Dr. Addison M. Duval.

"The lack of any criticism of Dr. Duval on professional grounds confirms the apparent political nature of the governor's action and the reduction of this important health function to petty politics is deplorable.

"The commission is urged to be aware that it is not subservient to the governor for its judgment."

At a separate meeting, the Kansas City Association for Mental Health urged immediate action to obtain a highly qualified, full-time director.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—R. Crosby Kemper Jr., candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, continued a swing through southwest Missouri with a declaration Wednesday that farmers should be enraged by the Kennedy administration's tactics in its emergency feed grain program.

Kemper said the program is a failure because:

1. It reduced production by only 11 per cent.
2. The sale of huge stocks of surplus grain practically destroyed the free market.
3. It has cost the taxpayers over a billion dollars.

Silver Drawing Spotlight As President Halts Sales

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver—a commodity or a backing for money? And what price silver?

Today the metal is under a spotlight perhaps more intense than at any time since the days of William Jennings Bryan's cry for 16-to-1 status for silver.

As a commodity, silver has been teetering on the edge of short supply. Miners say its official price has been too low to encourage sufficient output. Users wanted the price held down.

As a backing for paper money it supports some $2 billion of paper currency, all $1 bills and some $2, $5 and $10 bills, known as silver certificates and it circulates as coins.

President Kennedy has ordered the Treasury to stop selling it at a pegged rate of 91.5 cents an ounce. He also wants the silver certificates replaced gradually by Federal Reserve notes—now the most widely used form of folding money.

That makes miners happy, and many others in states where mining activity may perk up. It makes users unhappy, although many agree it seemed inevitable.

Some silver dealers here say the price might jump above $1 an ounce, now that the Treasury isn't selling it at what they call bargain rates.

Commercial use of silver has been growing—while production of silver has been dropping.

It goes into jewelry and silverware. But use has been soaring for photographic film and electronics equipment, for use in missiles, in organic chemistry, even food preservation, and for electrical circuits in such appliances as TV sets and radios.

Higher metal prices could in time affect the retail prices of such items.

Supplies have grown tighter because much silver output was closed down, miners saying they couldn't operate profitably at the legal price—90.5 cents an ounce—the Treasury paid for their metal.

The gap between demand and supply in this country has been bridged by the U.S. Treasury selling part of its supply. At the start of the year the Treasury had 123.5 million ounces not tied up as backing for currency. The steady commercial demand has whittled that down to 22 million ounces.

Now commercial users must look to the world market—where prices seem bound to rise, even if they fluctuate widely for a time.

American silver producers—and those in other lands—contend that the expected higher price for the metal will start up production in mines now idle.

With more production, they argue, the metal will come back to adequate supply and the price will be stable.

Big users aren't so happy. Eastman Kodak uses nearly 28.5 million ounces a year to make silver nitrate for its films. It has tried to build up a stockpile, wishes it could have got more.

Some users are philosophical about it. At the rate the Treasury stockpile was dwindling, there wouldn't have been much left in it anyway, even if the President hadn't acted.

Dr. Ward C. Newcomb, a Chapel, Neb., dentist has a bovine tooth crown exhibit at the 1961 International Livestock Exhibit.

Jerry Haynes, in charge of the exhibit, said a patient induced Newcomb in 1959 to "do something" for the cows in that vicinity, where grasses have an abrasiveness. Their teeth wore down in about 10 years. They couldn't eat properly, so their weight dropped and their milk production slumped.

Haynes said Newcomb has developed a set of steel tooth crowns that run from $20 to $35 per animal and extends their milk producing years.

The money is coming from the National Institute of Mental Health. The Kansas City school system and the foundation will administer it jointly.

Rally to Help Newsboy Fatal To Ailing Man

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Clarence L. Fisher was a heart patient for 18 years but he forgot it Wednesday when he heard the cries of a 14-year-old newsboy who was being attacked by a dog.

Fisher picked up a stick and ran 50 yards to the rescue of Earl Edward McDanel. The dog nipped the boy's right hand, tore his newspaper bag to shreds, turned on Fisher and chased him back to his house. Fisher collapsed and died.

He was 69 and had been a semi-invalid since a heart attack in 1943 forced him to give up his job as a foreman at a serum company. He was a native of Beagle, Kan.

Menshikov Praises Kennedy Interview

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov Wednesday night gave President Kennedy top marks for his performance in the interview with Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei.

At a Yugoslav Embassy reception Menshikov said he thought both Adzhubei and the President had done very well in the interview.

"But the President was exceptionally good," Menshikov said, "in presenting the American point of view."

Mothers' Fight Against Use Of Bridge Is Over

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — A group of mothers won a battle Wednesday against use of an old wooden bridge on a school bus route.

Since Monday, the mothers have gone to the bridge each day, taken their children off the bus and walked them across. They contended the iron-shouldered wooden-planked bridge across Wappingers Creek is unsafe.

The Board of Education deferred to the mothers Wednesday with a decision to reroute the bus several miles out of its way.

The board wouldn't agree the bridge is unsafe but concluded the whole affair was emotionally disturbing to the children, especially those whose mothers didn't walk them across.

Glenn's Father Happy to Hear Son Was Picked

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—John H. Glenn Sr.'s excitement and enthusiasm is running about as high as his son will go in his planned orbit of the earth.

The son is Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 40, the Marine astronaut named Wednesday to make the first space orbit flight for the United States.

"He's thrilled to death and I guess we are, too," said John Sr. Wednesday. He said he and John Jr.'s mother weren't worried.

"The better you know Project Mercury, the more confidence you have in it," the elder Glenn said, adding, "we're very happy for him. That is what he wanted to do."

Credit Dentist With Boosting Milk Production

CHICAGO (AP)—A dentist who branched out into making store teeth for cows was credited today with boosting total milk production per animal as much as 48.6 per cent.

Dr. Ward C. Newcomb, a Chapel, Neb., dentist has a bovine tooth crown exhibit at the 1961 International Livestock Exhibit.

Jerry Haynes, in charge of the exhibit, said a patient induced Newcomb in 1959 to "do something" for the cows in that vicinity, where grasses have an abrasiveness. Their teeth wore down in about 10 years. They couldn't eat properly, so their weight dropped and their milk production slumped.

Haynes said Newcomb has developed a set of steel tooth crowns that run from $20 to $35 per animal and extends their milk producing years.

Extension Club Council

Presidents and vice presidents representing 26 of the 28 Extension Clubs attended the County Council and Program Planning meeting Monday, Nov. 27. Mrs. Royal Ragar, Council President, presided.

Four clubs were recognized for their program of outstanding work with youth. George Moyer, manager, Safeway Store, presented leather cases to the 1961 presidents of the following clubs: Mrs. Raymond Wasson, Thursday Extension, Mrs. Walter Nicholson, Meet Your Neighbor Extension Club, Mrs. Julian Fowler, Hughesville Extension Club, and Mrs. Chester Wissman, Flat Creek Extension Club.

Ways To Cook Pork

The secret of successful pork cookery lies in a moderate temperature for a long enough time to assure that the meat is well done to the very center. During slow cooking the rich flavor is fully developed and the exterior acquires an attractive golden brown. Pork should always be cooked well done. There are five methods used in cooking pork. There are: roasting, broiling, panbroiling, braising, and cooking in water. Both fresh and smoked pork cuts are broiled and panbroiled. Both fresh and smoked pork may be braised and cooked in water. Pork is not used in making stews.

Roasting

Fresh pork. Season roast with salt and pepper and place fat side up in an open roasting pan. A loin roast needs no rack, but other cuts do. Place in moderate oven (350 F.) Do not cover the pan because roasting is cooking by dry heat and when the roast is covered, it is surrounded by steam. Basting is not necessary, for as the meat cooks, the fat will melt and run over and into the roast. A meat thermometer is the best way of telling when the roast is done. Insert it to the center of the thickest part of the roast. The thermometer reads 185 F., or allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound.

Broiling

Smoked ham slice, bacon and sliced Canadian style bacon may be broiled.

Ham. A moderately low temperature should be used. Cut the fat edge in several places to prevent curling. Turn heat to high and place ham on broiler rack so that top surface is about three inches from heat. Turn when ham is slightly brown. Only one turning, is necessary. Continue broiling until second side is done. The time required depends on thickness: 1/2 inch slice requires 15 to 20 minutes; 1 inch slice 20 to 30 minutes.

Braising

Pork chops and steaks are cooked best by braising. Heat a heavy frying-pan until very hot. Add about one tablespoon of lard or, if the chops have a good covering of fat, place the chops in the pan with the fat edge down. This browns the fat and at the same time enough fat is cooked out to grease the frying-pan. Brown chops nicely on both sides. Do not add any water. Reduce the heat, cover closely, and cook slowly until the chops are thoroughly done, turning occasionally so that they will be uniformly cooked. The time required is 45 to 60 minutes.

Cooking in Water

Cooking in water is used to cook smoked ham and smoked shoulder cuts. Fresh spare-ribs and pork hearts also are cooked by this method. Place the meat in a kettle with water to cover. Cover the kettle and cook over a low heat

31 Japanese Miners Buried By Explosion

Nine of the men were rescued, police said, but one later died of injuries. Deadly gas fumes hampered attempts to rescue the other 22.

until the meat is tender. Do not boil. It requires about the same time to cook a ham in water as it does to bake it. When done, the surface may be covered with brown sugar and flour or other mixture for glazing and placed in the oven to brown. If the ham or other smoked pork is to be served cold, without a glaze, it should be cooled in its own liquor.

Question and Answer

Q. Is there some special secret to making crusty rolls that are light and airy inside?

A. There is no special secret to making light airy breads with crisp crusts. There is, however, a particular recipe and method of baking necessary to produce good Italian bread and hard rolls. Bakers use special ovens for these products. At intervals during baking, jets of steam are turned on in the oven. This steam helps to produce the typical crust. Next time you are making crisp-crust bread at home, try putting a pan of hot water on the bottom of the oven. The steam produced will give some crustiness to the bread, but will not duplicate the bakers' crisp rolls. The ingredients for hard rolls and Italian bread differ from other yeast because milk and shortening are not used.

These Chilly Autumn Days Succulent Ham a Treat

By MARY PIPER

Crisp Fall days call for hearty meals. And what better meat goes with fall and fresh cider than a big, succulent Virginia ham spiced with sticks of cloves.

The beauty of a ham roast is that it lasts and lasts. After your first meal of the roast itself, ham slices will make an ideal base for ham dishes that can't go wrong.

Try, for instance, this genuine French recipe.

HAM IN CREAM SAUCE

6 slices of ham
1 cup dry white wine
2 eggs
5 ounces mushrooms
½ cup fresh cream
Salt and pepper
Lemon

Heat the wine in a casserole. Place six fairly thick slices of ham in the wine and cover. Let simmer on very low flame for 15-20 minutes. Wash and cut the mushrooms very fine. Cook them for five minutes in cream. Season with salt and pepper. Add more juice from the cooking ham to the mushroom cream mixture and stir into the cream. Add the yolks of the two eggs and a slice of lemon rind. Place the ham on a serving dish and pour the sauce over it. Makes six servings.

A fine fall dish with ham is this one, which takes advantage of seasonal apples.

BAKED HAM WITH APPLES

1 slice of ham, 1 inch thick
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 apples
¼ cup sugar

Rub the slice of ham with mustard, pepper and brown sugar. Place it in a baking pan. Core the apples and cut them into ½-inch slices. Cover the ham thickly with the apple slices. Sprinkle with sugar. Pour enough water in the pan to cover the bottom. Cover the pan tightly. Bake ham in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour. Then remove the lid and permit the top to brown. Serves four.

Squash is another seasonal item that combines well with ham.

BAKED SQUASH AND HAM

1½ cups cubed smoked or boiled ham
2 cups peeled diced Hubbard squash
Butter
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg

Combine the ham with the diced squash. Dot with butter. Season with pepper, sugar and nutmeg. Cover the dish tightly. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for one hour. Cooked or uncooked meat may be used. Add a little salt.

If you want to spice it up, try ham slices with a barbecue sauce.

BAKED HAM WITH BARBECUE SAUCE

2 pounds thickly sliced ham
¼ cup chopped clove garlic
¼ cup tomato catsup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup cider vinegar
1 can (10½ ounces) tomato soup
2 teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon pepper

Trim the ham slices and place in the bottom of a casserole. Combine the onion, garlic, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, tomato soup, butter, sugar and pepper. Pour these ingredients over the ham. Cover the casserole.

Bake the ham in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until it is tender about one hour. Makes four servings.

The youngsters will really go for ham simmered in all kinds of fruit.

News of Interest To Mid-Missourians

CALIFORNIA—The second meeting of the Monticello County Council of the Parent Teachers Association for the 1961-62 school year was held at the Latham R-V school Friday night.

Mrs. Virginia McDonald and Mrs. Mabel Carr gave an interesting discussion on special education for slow learning children. Mrs. McDonald teaches the elementary room in the California R-I school and Mrs. Carr is the junior high school special education teacher. The talks were more appreciated because of the schools being required in 1962-63 to furnish special instruction for the retarded children in their district either by providing a teacher or by transporting to another school.

Each of the following schools were represented: California, Tipton, Latham and Clarksburg. Mrs. John Crane, Council President, presided and made a report on her attendance at the state meeting held in St. Louis this fall.

Two more meetings are to be held in 1962, Jan. 19 at Jamestown and March 16 at High Point.

TIPTON—Mrs. George Thiel, Jr. entertained with a surprise tea honoring her aunt, Mrs. Helen Kutenkuler, on her birthday Monday.

Guests were relatives and friends who made friendship quilt blocks which were presented at the tea by Mrs. Arthur Knipp, who gave an original reading befitting the occasion.

The harvest theme was carried out in the decorations with refreshments being served from a lace covered table centered with candles and cornucopia overflowing with fruits, vegetables, nuts and autumn leaves.

Mrs. Norbert Knipp served with members of the family assisting.

TIPTON—Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Bixler were hosts to the Couples Bridge Club at their home Friday evening.

Bridge was played from three tables and guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bookout and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hudson.

Joe Scott won the prize for high score for men. Mrs. Carl Johnson, high score for women. Mrs. Joe Scott, traveling prize, and Mr. and Mrs. Bookout, high score for guests.

Mrs. Bixler served refreshments.

LA MONTE—The November meeting of the KJU Class of the Christian Church was held at the church Wednesday with 22 members and six guests present for the contributed dinner at the noon hour.

The meeting in the afternoon was opened by the president, Mrs. Roy Alexander, who read a poem, "November."

Following the regular business meeting, the program in charge of Mrs. Elmer Winfred and Mrs. Sadie Cunningham was presented. The topic was "Keep On Believing."

Song solos were sung by Mrs. D. I. Sevier and Crystal Brim, both numbers were accompanied by Mrs. Paul Brim.

The meaning of Thanksgiving was presented by Mrs. Winfrey. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Cunningham. Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Hazel Wasson, Miss Mabel Harris, Mrs. Amy Hopkins, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Guy Mahin. Prayer was given by Mrs. Winfrey.

Quest for Certainty Gets Harder As Years Roll By

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — One of the penalties of middle age is that a man hardly knows what to believe any more.

The quest for certainty gets harder and harder.

As a youth one is taught certain truths and values that are supposed to be enduring and guide you all through life. But as you grow older you find that many things you were taught as fact when you were young are now regarded as errors—or superstitions.

You were taught that a wise man never bought anything until he could pay for it in cash. Now if you aren't in hock up to your ears with a loan company you are regarded as a threat to the national economy.

Many a farmer never planted his crops until the moon was right. Now he never plants at all—unless the wind is right from Washington.

It was patriotic to be patriotic. Now love of country is a sign of nationalism, and nationalism is held to be the greatest obstacle to world peace and unity.

A dancer prided himself on his ability to do a graceful waltz. Now you're a wallflower unless you're willing to get out on the floor, roll your eyes and twist yourself into a pretzel.

A father was a symbol of family authority and the recognized head of the house. Now he's the mousy fellow who comes home once a week with his paycheck in his mouth but isn't supposed to open his yap about how the place is run.

An atom was some kind of a little mystery you read about in your high school physics or chemistry textbook. Now it is a giant that terrifies the whole human race.

If you were 10 pounds underweight you worried about getting tuberculosis. Now if you're 10 ounces overweight you worry about getting a heart attack.

If you were 10 minutes late to work the boss threatened to fire you. Now if he doesn't give you two 15-minute coffee breaks a day you threaten to report him to the union.

If a man drank in public he was regarded as a victim of vice. Now doctors tell you a couple of cocktails before dinner are good for what ails you.

What can a middle-aged person believe in?

Well, there's always motherhood and the need for a larger federal highway program; and death and taxes—and that's about it.

Economy: the Two-bits Way

The Veterans Administration office in Sedalia, which during preceding years established itself as the only authority on veterans benefits in the entire Central Missouri area, faces extinction.

Closing of this office means that servicemen, veterans, widows and dependents of veterans will be considerably inconvenienced obtaining information and service concerning VA benefits. Instead of having qualified advisers to give reliable information close at hand by personal contact, those entitled to benefits will have to seek this by mail from regional offices such as St. Louis and Kansas City.

Local observers of this bureaucratic mandate suggest that if economy is the purpose then why not abolish the regional offices throughout the country and do all the VA business out of Washington.

Closing of the Sedalia office comes right at a time when the work load has been increasing in an area to which Whiteman Air Force Base and the incoming Missile complex is adjacent. Contention of the VA administration that the purpose of the Sedalia office has been served is disputed by Jack Alpert, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is vigorously protesting the abandonment of the VA office here, and points out that by the work measurement schedule of the VA headquarters itself in Washington the Sedalia office under this scoring system qualifies as normal in manpower utilization. The office employs two persons whose work performance is away above average, according to Alpert's investigation of operations here.

Reasons given for closing VA offices follow this pattern: (1) Their purpose has been served, (2) The bulk of applications has been filed, (3) Deadline dates for benefits have been reached and (4) Veterans have acquired a better knowledge of benefits.

There is a suspicion, however, that closing of the Sedalia office may be part of a so-called austerity program of the administration to demonstrate performance in government economy by knocking off two employees at the grass roots.

It is possible this coincides with President Kennedy's recent order to top officers of the government, including those at Cabinet level, to cut expenses wherever possible, "to eliminate low priority activities, and to limit the number of government employees to the absolute minimum."

No doubt the agency heads must be held to close account—but, as sad precedent so abundantly proves, it is one thing to talk about economy in government, and a very different thing to achieve it especially when accomplishment of this objective is the elimination of a few Indians while the Big Chiefs hold on to their jobs and rake in heap big wampum from the taxpayers.

One of the better fields for a massive economy expedition is that of foreign aid which belatedly has been undergoing reorganization after too long a period of the USA over-emphasizing give away privileges and services which are so patently unappreciated by our foreign friends.

Closing the Sedalia VA office reminds us of the ditty by Walt Mason: "The man who saves the pennies is a dandy and a duck — if he always has a quarter for the guy that's out of luck." Like for Tito, Nehru, the Belgrade neutrals, just to mention a few.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mexican President Dedicates Rail Line

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Drew Pearson accompanied President Lopez Mateos of Mexico on the train that opened the only new rail line built in North America in recent years. Pearson reports herewith on that trip.)

DREW PEARSON

ABOARD THE MEXICAN PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL — All day this train has been creeping slowly over the great plateau of Northern Mexico. It is a land of dusty, adobe villages, an occasional grain elevator, a cluster of oil tanks, patches of sparsely planted corn, a lone cowboy driving a lean herd of whiteface into the setting sun.

Like Arizona and Nevada to the North, it's a flat, broken country, brown, dry, hungry for rain, set against a background of buttes and mesas rising in majestic loneliness from the plains, fields of hard rock which the erosion of centuries has not worn away.

Suddenly the train, which has been going slowly to let the President of Mexico greet cheering crowds along the way, begins to drop down from the two-mile-high tableland to the Pacific coast below. The descent is steep, the scenery breathtaking.

The brown plateau gives way to green pines, and the white spray of waterfalls that plunge from mountain peaks, down to deep ravines beneath. The train rushes through tunnels, over bridges, whips around curves so sharp that the engineer in the locomotive can almost wave to the brakeman on the last car.

The descent down the mountain range is so circuitous that in one place I count three other trains winding back and forth below. All are sections of the President's special which carries members of the Mexican Cabinet, the Mexican-Senate, Congress, business, labor and other leaders on this inauguration of the first rail line to be built in North America in the last 50 years.

Socialist's Dream
The railroad had been proposed 64 years ago by Albert K. Owen, son of the famous English Socialist, Robert Owen, who established the first Socialist colony in America, at New Harmony, Ind. He and other Americans had proposed a short-line railroad from Texas to the Gulf of lower California cutting off 1,000 miles in reaching the Pacific.

Their proposed Kansas, Mexico and Pacific line actually got under construction in 1907, aimed at connecting Kansas City, via the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the new railroad, with the Pacific. But revolutions in Mexico and wars in the United States intervened. Sixty years passed. Only half the line—that which crosses the dusty Plateau of Northern Mexico—was built.

Three years ago, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, the do-it-yourself President of a do-it-yourself country, decreed that the final link of about 50 miles was to be completed. It took the engineering genius of Javier Barros Sierra, Minister of Public Works, plus a back-breaking job of transporting materials up the mountain range, to do it. But it was done. It was done without borrowing money from the USA and without getting any foreign aid from or development loans from the USA. Mexico didn't even hire any engineering advice from the USA.

And the fact that this rail line has been built where early American promoters failed, has given something of a lift to Mexican pride.

It has also given greater unity to the country; because, unlike the United States which has six rail lines crossing the continent from East to West, no rail line hitherto has crossed Northern Mexico from East to West.

Old Hatred Evaporates
Northern Mexico was once the hotbed of bitter anti-Americanism. Here Pancho Villa raided across the border — robbing, pillaging, killing 16 Americans in Columbus, N. Mex. Here the great cattle ranches of Americans were seized. Here the armies of Madero, Obregon, Carranza and Huerto fought back and forth, with American citizens, property and good will caught in between.

Today, believe it or not, the City of Columbus, N. Mex., has named a park for "Pancho Villa," the Mexican bandit-revolutionary who shot 16 of its citizens in cold blood and burned part of the town. It's a gesture of friendship which Mexicans don't understand but which they appreciate as aimed at healing old wounds.

Today, President Lopez Mateos has been the guest of Vice President Johnson at his farm ranch, something which no other Mexican President could risk doing politically. Resentment in Mexico would have been to great.

President Lopez Mateos also corresponds regularly with American Senators without going through State Department channels. Under strict protocol he should not do this, but the State Department is delighted to forget about red tape.

Most Mexican Cabinet members also confer person-to-person with their opposite numbers in Washington: while one Mexican, the famed movie actor Cantinflas, crossed the border at the invitation of Vice President Johnson to tip the scales for the election of the first Mexican-American Congressman from Texas, Henry Gonzales of San Antonio.

It's certainly a change from the old days and doesn't please Fidel Castro at all.

Mexico-Go-Round

Northern Mexico's greatest need is water. President Lopez is building new irrigation and reclamation projects, but meanwhile lower California hasn't had one inch of rainfall in 12 years, Tijuana is so short of water that its city supply can be used only about one hour a day. There's a heavy fine for those who use city water to wash their cars. Most car owners drive to U.S. territory across the border to wash their cars. . . U.S. cities in this area tap the Colorado River for their water. . . Mexico is eyeing the Fairbanks-Morse desalinization process, developed in Israel, which makes fresh water out of salt water.

Walking Softly With a Big Stick

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, an admirer of President Theodore Roosevelt's policy of soft talk with a big stick, is beginning to follow it in foreign affairs from Asia and Europe to Latin America.

Kennedy, since becoming President, has never stated this as his policy in so many words. It seems to have developed slowly, and emerged into view slowly, as crises piled up on him. But he has made it clear by action.

For example: In the military buildup after the Berlin crisis began; the nudge to Premier Khrushchev not to begin a war he couldn't win; pressure on the Vietnamese government to start reforms; use of the Navy to stop a Latin American revolt.

Kennedy, during the second TV debate with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign, said "in my judgment we should follow the advice of Theodore Roosevelt: be strong, maintain a strong position but speak softly."

What Roosevelt actually said—he said it repeatedly, as governor of New York and later as president—was "speak softly and carry a big stick. You will go far." He also warned against boasting that isn't backed up.

Kennedy had to learn that the hard way and, as further events showed, like a man gradually feeling his way toward a fixed position.

On April 20, three days after anti-Castro rebels tried to invade Cuba with American help but were stopped cold, Kennedy said the United States would "not hesitate" to act against communism in Cuba to protect its own security.

But when the crunch came — when the rebels were being slaughtered on the beaches—he not only didn't intervene, he did not even give them American military support. The failure was a colossal American embarrassment.

Just because this whole episode was so half-baked, it seems safe to say neither Kennedy nor his advisers had thought their way through at that time to a policy they followed later, the Roosevelt policy.

Then came Khrushchev's threats on Berlin. Kennedy responded to that with a military buildup. In terms of manpower it was more psychological than practical since only 153,000 men were added to the armed forces. The real stick was in warning Khrushchev not to push his luck. Still, Kennedy didn't get belligerent.

Then came South Viet Nam where the Communists, by terror and persuasion, are taking over more and more of the country which is extremely poor but is run by President Ngo Dinh Diem and his family like a dictatorship.

The Doctor Says

Cost and Effect of 'Shots' Can Make Them Impractical

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When I started practice, many American doctors criticized the continental custom of giving injections for almost every known ailment. Scarcely a European traveler returned without a supply of impressively colored attractively packaged little flasks that contained fluids of unknown composition or dose of substances of little therapeutic value with which a "cure doctor" worked "miracles." As in the world of fashion today, it was assumed that any imported product was, by this very fact, superior to anything domestic.

Now when we Americans begin riding a fad, we really ride it to a fare-thee-well. And this is what I believe has happened with abuses of the giving of "shots." Quite likely this is exploited by a minority of my colleagues, but it's a practice that, all too often, is demanded by patients of their doctors.

Efforts of our pharmaceutical industry to perfect preparations that can be taken by mouth have been so successful that "shots" are rarely needed except in the case of quite sick patients, either in their homes or in hospitals. For example, except for an occasional dose of vitamins B12 and K, there is no need to give vitamin shots to most individuals who are up and about. I'm not talking here about an injection for a local sore spot. And the same may be said of "gland shots" and of shots of penicillin and most of the other "miracle" antibiotics many of which often seem to be prescribed as if they were as harmless as cough lozenges.

Now, aside from the matter of reactions from "shots," there's the matter of costs. For you to take or demand a shot of a medicine you can as well take the doctor's office, wait your turn to be cared for, pay a fee for each injection, and travel also suffer as consequences of an injection a painful local reaction, an attack of hives or, on rare occasions, a bout of "syringe jaundice."

Next time, before you ask for a "shot" — or take one — maybe you might think of the household budget. For, with what you can save by taking mouth doses, you might buy a pair of shoes for the kids.

Carpet on the Ceiling Makes Upside-Down Sense

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Did you read about the Kansas housewife who ordered wall-to-wall carpeting for her living room and had it put on the ceiling instead of the floor?

It kind of shook up rug company officials who thought she must be kidding until she explained.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE

BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

RETIRED, HE JUST WANTS TO SIT

DEAR ARTHUR: Since my husband retired a month ago, we do nothing but squabble. He sits around the house all day and does nothing. Says he worked hard all his life and just wants to sit now. Wants me to sit with him. I'm bored. Any suggestions? CINDI

DEAR CINDI: First suggestion: Let your husband sit, relax, and unwind. After working the first portion of a lifetime, a man needs to do nothing for a while.

Second suggestion: Stop being a fuss-budget. It takes two to quarrel.

Third suggestion: Relax! Your husband can't sit forever. He'll be just as anxious as you to start doing things after a while. But give him a breather!

DEAR ARTHUR: I've never had a chance to feel like a senior citizen because my mother, who is in her 90s, has lived with me ever since father died in 1936. Mother was only 20 when I was born, which makes me 72. I never married.

I have spent my entire life taking care of mama. I sometimes worry about what will happen when she finally passes away. I will be left for the first time, in my 70s with no one who needs me. Most people face this problem way ahead of their 70s.

Is it too late to prepare for old age when you are no longer young? GRETCHEN

DEAR GRETCHEN: You, Gretchen, are one of those rare people who never need know what old age is UNLESS you start to brood about it. How lucky for you! All your life you have served your ed that she had six children (five of them boys). She figured, with all the traffic in the living room, that a carpet wouldn't last very long.

What she wanted it for was to look at, anyway — so why not put it on the ceiling. Then, when she had a chance to sit down and rest for a few minutes, she could just look up and admire her wall-to-wall carpeting.

It reads as though this is one woman who is practical-minded and daring enough to get her own particular status symbol without letting it become a burden to her.

She has her carpet and she doesn't have to worry about the kids spilling things on it, tracking it up, or wearing a path across it.

Furthermore, she shouldn't have to replace it for years and years — perhaps never.

And if anyone makes any remarks about wall-to-wall carpeting on the ceiling she can always say, "Well, it's so common to see it on the floor."

After all, that's the kind of reasoning that has prompted the woman who has everything to wear her mink as a lining for a cloth coat.

Putting carpeting on the ceiling isn't a bit more absurd than putting mink INSIDE a coat, is it?

mother. When she passes on, you must find others who need your affection and dedicated attention.

By giving of yourself to others, you will continue to keep yourself young.

DEAR ARTHUR: How do you account for widows getting an increase in their Social Security benefits when I get none? I earned my benefits, but still get only $47 a month. Widows get an increase. What's the reason for this unfairness? TICKED-OFF

DEAR TICKED-OFF: A widow's right to receive benefits is earned for her by her deceased husband. Under previous law, a widow received benefits of one-half of the income that the family had while the husband was living.

The recent increase is intended to produce a more reasonable relationship between the earnings of the deceased husband and the widow's benefits.
